Profile

I am a motivated and ambitious individual currently pursuing my third year of BSc Business Administration (International Business) at Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology. While my academic focus lies in business administration, my passion for technology and coding has driven me to explore the world of front-end development.

Although not formally trained in front-end development, I have taken the initiative to teach myself the necessary skills and techniques. Through online courses, tutorials, and hands-on projects, I have gained proficiency in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and various front-end frameworks.

My journey as a self-taught front-end developer has been both challenging and rewarding. It has enabled me to develop a keen eye for design, problem-solving abilities, and attention to detail. I have also honed my ability to work collaboratively in teams and manage projects effectively.

With my solid foundation in business administration and my growing expertise in front-end development, I am now seeking an intern role or a junior developer position in the field of frontend development. I am excited to contribute my skills and knowledge to a dynamic and innovative organization, where I can continue to learn and grow as a professional.

As a proactive and dedicated individual, I am eager to tackle new challenges and stay up to date with the latest industry trends and technologies. I thrive in fast-paced environments and possess excellent communication and interpersonal skills, which allow me to effectively collaborate with team members and stakeholders.

I am confident that my combination of academic knowledge, self-taught technical skills, and passion for technology make me a valuable asset to any organization. I am committed to continuous learning and personal development, and I am excited about the opportunities that lie ahead in the world of front-end development.

If given the opportunity, I am ready to contribute my enthusiasm, dedication, and technical expertise to make a positive impact in a junior developer role or intern position. I am eager to apply my skills, learn from experienced professionals, and contribute to the success of the organization.

Thank you for considering my profile. I look forward to the possibility of discussing how I can contribute to your team and contribute to the field of front-end development.
